FATHER, WITHOUT SLEEP, TO 'CARRY ON'

Child, 20-Months Old, Suffering From Cold; Man and Woman Committed Act New Jersey Police Believe

BY QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, famous parents of kidnaped "Lindy, Junior," are willing to pay the $50,000 ransom demanded by those who stole their son.

The willingness of the Lindberghs to pay the sum demanded as well as the fact that a ransom note was actually left in the nursery crib of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., by the kidnapers was disclosed for the first time today by a close friend of the Lindberghs.

STATEMENT MADE

Following the statement made by the friend of the family, Capt. John J. Lamb, in charge of the New Jersey state police detail working on the case, said:

"Harm would inevitable come to both the police case and to the child if the conditions laid down in the note were not followed, and I am advising Colonel Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh to carry out the conditions of the letter."

The reticence of the distracted parents of the baby Lindbergh concerning the presence of the note which had been reported previously without confirmation was attributed to the anxiety of both the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh to please the kidnapers—"pay any amount"—"do anything"—if they could only get their child back safe and sound.

CHILD IS ILL

This anxiety was further heightened by the condition of the child when he was snatched from his nursery crib and hustled into the

FOUR STATES ARE COMBED

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2.—The detective genius of four states combed roadway and alley today for Baby Lindbergh, 20-month-old heir to the fame and fortune of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen from his nursery crib as he slept and his parents and authorities were convinced the job was accomplished by a professional kidnaping gang.

A night and part of a day have passed and only a few slim clues as to the kidnapers have developed. The entire force of the New Jersey state police concentrated in the area surrounding the isolated country Lindbergh home in the belief that the kidnapers were hiding with the baby somewhere in the surrounding dense woods.

SEARCH FARMHOUSES

Careful search was made of each of the numerous deserted farmhouses in the region.

The famous father of the missing baby aided the troopers in their search. Colonel Lindbergh looked haggard and sleepless from his all-night vigil—far different from the spic-and-span "Lindy" of other days.

"I intend to remain awake until my baby returns home," Colonel Lindbergh said when a friend suggested he get some sleep.

"My wife, Anne, is in bed. I guess the strain was too much for her."

PHYSICIAN SUMMONED

The Lindbergh family physician was summoned to look after Mrs. Lindbergh.

"We have received several leads, but most of them have fallen down," said Colonel Lindbergh.

"The police have leads now in Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and Yonkers, Pa. I don't know how important they are but we are churning at every straw."

Another tip sent the colonel speeding away to Flagtown, N. J., 15 miles distant.

He was accompanied by two state troopers and Oscar Busch, well known tapper in the region.

Flagtown is in the center of a former "moonshining" area recently cleared up by federal agents.

The colonel had made several of these automobile sorties to various cities on information which later

'Anti Kidnaping' Measure Sought

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Aroused by the kidnaping of the baby of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the House postoffice committee today unanimously recommended passage of a bill making it a crime to send a threatening letter through the United States mail.

COLUMBUS, O., March 2.—Shocked by the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., the Columbus Chamber of Commerce today sent letters to Ohio Congressmen urging support of two anti-kidnaping bills which have been introduced in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives.

Today's efforts constituted a renewal of previous attempts to win support for the Patterson bill in the Senate making it illegal to

Tot's Abduction Recalls Other Crime Sensations

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Kidnaping of the baby of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh which was flashed around the world today probably is the most sensational crime of modern history next to the assassinations of President Lincoln and President McKinley.

Because the world had been more thrilled by the birth of the famous baby on June 22, 1930 than by the nativity of any other child in generation, the news of his abduction aroused public interest and sympathy everywhere.

ROSS CASE RECALLED

Even the famous kidnaping of Charles Ross, 4, of Philadelphia did not command the same far spread alarm, though the boy was the object of a nationwide search for years. The mystery of his disappearance was never solved.

The boy, one of a number of children of celebrated parents to be kidnaped in the last century, was the son of a Philadelphia merchant. On July 1, 1874, he was enticed from his Germantown home with his brother, Walter, by two men in a buggy who promised him toys.

After a short ride, Walter was dispatched into a store with money given him by the men. When he returned, Charley and the buggy were gone.

Christian K. Ross, the boy's father, cooperated with police which mobilized in the search throughout the continent.

Although many persons at various times claimed to be the missing Ross boy grown to manhood and despite receipt of a letter by the father of Charley demanding ransom, no clue to his whereabouts ever proved successful.

CANDIDATES' TIME IS SHORT, FILE PETITIONS

March 11 at 6:30 p. m. Is Final Date for Filing Board Clerk Warns

MANY ARE FILED

Recorder, Commissioner Jobs Are Sought

Harry E. Weill, clerk of the board of elections, Wednesday notified prospective candidates that Thursday, March 11, at 6:30 p. m. is the deadline for filing petitions of candidacy. Any petition mailed which is postmarked before that hour will be accepted.

Interest in the coming election here has been quiet during the past few months but with the deadline nearing it is expected, using the time-worn phrase, "The political pot will begin to boil."

The chief object of candidates appears to be the office of the county recorder now filled by Mrs. Mary G. Morris, who will again be a candidate.

TWO HAVE FILED

A. M. Daugherty and Ernest W. Weiler, both Democrats, have filed their petitions while at least two others are known to be circulating petitions for the Democratic nomination. George E. Roth, a Republican candidate, has filed his petition with the board of elections.

Although it is known several persons are seeking the Democratic nomination for county commission, the petition of W. H. Beavers, this city, is the only one filed at this time with the clerk of the board. Burr Rader, Willard Justus, Jesse Pitt, Ralph May and one or two others aspire to the office but none have filed their petitions.

Marvin Dresbach and Edgar Beatty, Republican incumbents, will also be candidates, but have not filed their petitions of candidacy.

THREE UNOPOSED

Ferd M. Pickens, seeking the Democratic nomination for second term as clerk of courts, has filed his petition and as yet has no opposition and the same thing can be said of Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff and J. Howard Sweetman, county engineer, both of whom have filed.

Radcliff seeks a second term and so does Sweetman. The surveyor's job is for four years while the sheriff's is for two.

Judge E. A. Brown, of probate court, will seek reelection but has not yet filed his petition and neither has Charles C. Young who will oppose Judge Brown. Both are Democrats.

Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist, Democrat, has been too busy to do much toward his candidacy. He has gone far enough to state that he is a candidate, however, and is circulating his petition. He will be opposed at the general election by Ray W. Davis, Republican, who also has his petition out but not filed.

Five murder trials in as many weeks has been Crist's assignment.

REPORT LITTLE CAUGHT

Arthur Little, 39, colored, alleged sixth person connected with the murder of John Kidney was captured in Mt. Gil-eed, N. C., according to word received here Wednesday afternoon by Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist.

Mr. Crist's call came from Deputy Sheriff Larry Van Skaik of Columbus who was called by North Carolina authorities.

The man was known to have been bound for the South and the man under arrest answers the description of Little in every way.

Prosecutor Crist was to go to Columbus later Wednesday to obtain extradition papers for the removal of the suspect to Ohio.

HAIRSTON TO TAKE STAND

Trial of Conspirator in Kidney Murder to Resume Thursday at 1 P. M.

The trial of John Hairston, 27, colored, postponed from Tuesday morning because of Charles Dresbach, Hairston's attorney, being indisposed, is scheduled to be resumed at 1 p. m. Thursday before Judge Joseph W. Adkins, provided Mr. Dresbach is able to continue his work.

Hairston is expected to take the stand to tell the details of the case which he hopes will gain leniency for him.

He has been a state's witness in the trials of Walker Brown, Henry Loudermilk, Lacey Adams and Frank Smith in the murder of John Kidney. The first three named have been sentenced to die in the electric chair for their parts in the crime.

Hairston is being prosecuted by E. L. Crist, prosecuting attorney, and Meeker Terwilliger, appointed by the court.

CHARGE MAN STOLE AUTO

George Williams, Kansas City, Held in County Jail After Darbyville Accident.

(BULLETIN)

The man who gave his name as George Williams confessed that his name is Ed Brown and that he is a paroled convict of the London Prison farm.

Authorities from that place returned him to the institution this afternoon.

George Williams, 24, who gave his residence as Kansas, was being held in the county jail for Newark authorities following his arrest after an automobile crash at Darbyville at 11 p. m. Tuesday.

Newark police charge the Chrysler sedan, driven by Williams, was stolen from J. S. Stanley, 64, Hoover-st., Newark, Tuesday afternoon.

The accident happened, it is reported, when Williams was unable to negotiate a curve at Darbyville. The auto crashed into a ditch.

The man suffered a wrenched back, an injured shoulder and a cut over the left eye. He said a companion escaped from the automobile but officers were skeptical about this report.

Williams was taken by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff and Deputy Bob Armstrong.

When Louisiana's new senator observed that he was only a little fish in a big pond he was, of course, referring to how they drink, not how they vote.

JAPS FORCE SINO ARMIES FROM CHAPEI

Chinese Abandoning Woosung, Japanese Embassy Reports; Thousands Killed in Drive of Nipponese Armies This Afternoon; Sato Says Fighting Will End if Chinese Go 12 Miles From Shanghai

PI—LEAD JAPAN—JAP—

LONDON, March 2.—Chinese troops are abandoning Woosung and the Japanese Ninth Division has reached Chenju, northwest of Chapei, said a dispatch to the Japanese embassy this afternoon.

By DIXON HOSTE

SHANGHAI, March 2.—The Japanese army today scored a smashing victory all along the Shanghai battle front.

The Chinese army, at 6 o'clock tonight, was in retreat at nearly every point except at Woosung where the commanding officer refused to obey Gen. Tsai Ting-Ki's order to withdraw.

From a high observation point within the international settlement with the aid of field glasses the Japanese can be seen advancing.

They are moving cautiously, apparently fearing mine traps.

BOMBARD VILLAGES

The Japanese are laying down a heavy barrage on each village before entering.

It is a curious sight, sitting here on the roof of the hotel that houses International News Service correspondents and watching Nipponese troops in their methodical, deliberate advance.

Enormous fires are burning in the Chapei district adjoining the international settlement and for some distance to the north.

Apparently the North station, center of Chinese resistance for three weeks, is in Japanese hands, but the smoke is so thick it is impossible for the British outposts to make out what the exact position is in Chapei.

The whole district, however, is believed to be in Japanese hands. The Chinese are attempting to make a stand on their strong second line of defense based on Nanziang.

Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai, commander of the Nineteenth route army, moved his headquarters to Nanziang two weeks ago.

TO USE THIRD LINE

If this line falls the Chinese intend to withdraw to their third line based on Soochow.

The Chinese apparently have little ammunition. Throughout the day few Chinese shells were observed (Continued on Page Six).

OHIO YOUTH IS ABDUCTED

Son of Prominent Niles Contractor Kidnaped on Way To School Today.

NILES, O., March 2.—Twelve-year-old James De Jute, son of a prominent Niles contractor, was kidnaped by two men as he was enroute to school today, according to police.

The abduction occurred on a street near the main thoroughfare of the city and a short distance from the lad's home.

Riding in a tan roadster, the two abductors stopped only an instant while one of the men grabbed the boy and placed him into the machine after a brief struggle.

The machine bearing the youth and his kidnapers sped northward out of town, pursued by a machine driven by Glenn Burnside who had witnessed the abduction and gave chase.

The high-powered automobile driven by the kidnapers quickly outdistanced Burnside and he lost sight of the machine a short distance from town.

Catherine Lambing, a maid at the home of Reverend H. L. Woodbine, also witnessed the kidnaping and notified police.

Quart Is Slashed Two Cents With Pint Remaining Same; Cut Explained.

New prices of milk, coffee cream and whipping cream in Circleville were announced Wednesday.

Milk, per quart, has been reduced from 10 cents to eight cents. Pints remain the same at five cents while coffee cream, one-half pint, has been slashed from 14 cents to 10 cents and whipping cream, one-half pint, from 20 cents to 15 cents.

The new prices are now effective.

One milk dealer Wednesday explained the new prices.

"The price of quarts has been reduced. This may be questioned by some who prefer buying pints of milk instead of the same amount in quart bottles. The overhead expense for a pint is the same as for a quart; that is, the bottle expense is the same, and the time required for washing and sterilizing is the same. It takes the same time to fill a pint as it does a quart and each requires one cap. It also costs as much to deliver a pint as a quart, and yet the price received has been only one half. By buying a quart the customer will be saving two cents and the milk dealer will have saved overhead expense. In other words, the overhead expense of a quart of milk delivered in pint bottles is double that of a quart of milk delivered in a quart bottle for this reason the price of quarts has been lowered while that of pints remains the same."

"The prices of all our products are lower than those of Columbus except pints of milk which remain the same."

JACK RYAN RESIGNS SOLDIER COMMISSION

Jack Ryan, S. Court-st. barber, has resigned as a member of the county soldiers' relief commission. His resignation was accepted by Judge Joseph W. Adkins when Mr. Ryan said the post interfered with his work.

Other members of the commission are Mrs. J. J. Rooney and George M. Adams has not yet named a successor.

LANCASTER, O., March 2.—Mayor R. N. Hastings today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

Mary Fickard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fickard, E. Main-st., suffered a wrenched back and bruises when she fell from the top of the sliding board at High-st. school building, Tuesday. She was unable to return to school Wednesday.

N. Holland and Pickaway Divide Star Team Honors

By PAT J. KIRWIN

New Holland, 1932 county champions and Pickaway, third place team, divide honors on the Herald's All County Basketball Team announced Wednesday.

Although the task of selecting these teams was quite cumbersome, nevertheless the facts as recorded in score-books concerning the performance of these athletes warrant their selections.

BRIGGS IS BEST

Gene Briggs of New Holland was without a doubt the best forward seen on the C. A. C. court during the tournament play. He was high scorer of the tournament with 38 markers, player his offensive position to perfection and did as well on the defense. His stellar performance also merits him the honor of capturing The Herald's first Monroe is the other forward in the tourney. He was a fine floor man, cooperative, had a keen eye for the bucket and kept the fighting spirit keyed up in the Monroe outfit.

Wilson of Pickaway merits the title of the best center seen in the tourney, according to The Herald's selections. His height enabled him to get many tip-offs and shove in the shots from under the bucket. Both advantages aided Pickaway greatly. He scored 26 points in four games, a good average for a center. He was pressed by Davis of New Holland.

LOUIS AND GRAVES

Joe Louis of New Holland and Graves of Pickaway are made guards on The Herald's first team. Both lads are excellent floor men, quick—and as well as fine examples of defensive players, both have keen eyes for the hoop and accounted for a number of their respective teams' scores. Graves showed in 25 markers in four games and Louis closely followed him by hitting the hoop eight times and completing seven free throws for a total of 22.

French, New Holland, closely followed on the heels of Downs of Monroe for the left forward position but the latter having the slight edge on offensive work was given a berth on the first squad. French was named forward and captain of the second team. He is a great defensive worker, playing every minute. He accounted for 16 points in the four games.

Davis of New Holland is the second string center because of his keen spirit and fine offensive performance. In the three games he played he scored an average of seven points each. He got a number of tip-offs and could carry out the role of a defensive man when needed.

ASHVILLE STRONGEST

The matter of naming a girls' team was not so hard on the coaches as candidates were only to be had from four teams, and they were a number of new players on this quartet of squads.

Schlegel of Ashville and Williams of Monroe named forwards played the offensive positions to perfection scoring many points for their respective teams.

Young of Ashville is named captain of the first squad because of her outstanding performance, sportsmanship and especially loyalty to the basket.

B. Smith, Monroe, and C. Hay, Ashville, are named guards and C. Roese, Ashville, is named forward.

The predicted return of a horse-hair furniture store is consistent with the growth of the town to capital punishment.

Any member of the town of Merd's Marshall, 118 E. 10th St. is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre Hall at this office for ticket.

BOSTON PITCHER SERIOUSLY HURT

BREWTON, Ala., March 2.—Big Ed Morris, star Boston Red Sox pitcher, was near death in a Century, Ala., hospital today, suffering from knife wounds.

Early today doctors announced he had only a slight chance of recovering.

Morris attended a fish fry in his honor here Monday night, and according to friends, suffered the wounds in a fight with Joe White. While the two were wrestling on the ground, witnesses said, White stabbed Morris twice, the knife blade barely missing the pitcher's heart.

White was seized by police and is being held without charges.

Morris was to have left today for Savannah, Ga., to join the Boston training camp.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scout troops held their weekly meetings Monday evening with troop 167 holding session at the Evangelical church. Plans for a hike were made for Saturday. The boys are to meet at nine o'clock and will hike to George Rot's farm and prepare their dinner. The hike is for the purpose of passing first-class work.

Scouts of troop 165 are reviewing second class scout work to pass the tests at the court of reviews to be held March 11. At their meeting at the Presbyterian church D. W. Reid gave new scout games and instructions in first aid and also a talk on the coming scout circus to be held in Columbus April 1 and 2.

At the Brethren church (room 155) were instructed in scout badges by L. B. Young. W. T. Hoser taught knots and Varner Courtwright taught the tenderfoot boys semaphore. A drive is being sponsored by this troop to have the greatest number at the court of review. A hike will be enjoyed by the Wolf patrol this Saturday and each scout is asked to bring a "Pail."

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — A Hollywood human interest story is to be found in Sally Hoots and Hoot Gibson.

They have moved from their swank Hollywood apartment to a Beverly Hills bungalow so that Hoot's daughter by his former marriage could be taken out of boarding school and have a real home to live in.

There's only a difference of 14 years in the ages of Sally and Hoot's little girl. Sally is 22 and Lois Gibson is 8. And Lois calls Sally "Mimi." The two are very fond of each other.

As Sally explained it to me: "We are near enough of an age to be friends. I always thought it would be ideal to have a baby when you're about 19. I intend to have one myself by the time I'm 25. But I want a few years either to get established on the screen or to know if I'm going to get any where."

In the meantime, Sally says she and Hoot are happy to have Lois living with them and going to a nearby public school.

LUCKY MR. MILJAN.

Over at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, they're always twitting John Miljan about being the studio handy-man.

It was Edgar Alan Woolf who flipped: "John's been in so many M-G-M pictures they're going to take the lion's head off the trademark and use his face instead."

AND SO TO GOSSIP.

Ernie and Percy Westmore, Hollywood make-up experts, have merged—at least their first names. So many people were unable to distinguish between these two twin brothers that, henceforth, each wants to be called Percern.

"The trial of Vivienne Ware," new Fox picture, is the first film to be adapted from a Radio script.

Jetta Goudal has one of those white drawing rooms that are all the rage.

Saw Ruth Chatterton and Ralph Forbes at the fights.

Janet Gaynor will take George Hill's place at the beach.

Constance Cummings went down to the train to see Junior Laemmle off.

So what? ... Arthur Hornblow, Sam Goldwyn executive, is back in town.

Greta Nissen threatens to take up polo. She vows she's serious.

And Kay Francis played her first game of tennis in 2 years the other day.

Back in school: Kay was a sprinter, basketball star, skater and tennis shark.

Ben Markson got a nice sum for his play from Radio, but people already have tried to touch him for twice the amount.

LEGAL NEWS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

TOLEDO DEPOSITORS

Contention of Attorney General Gilbert Bettman that officials and directors of a bank have no right to withdraw moneys from the bank in anticipation of its closing, that these moneys are withdrawn illegally and should be returned to the depositors, was sustained by the Lucas-co court of common pleas in the Toledo restitution case brought by the Attorney General against the City Auto Stamping Company. Verdict was in the amount of $400,000.00.

Attorney General Bettman insisted in an argument before the court on the type of entry which should be recorded, that the state has the right to get this money now. He argued that the money having been unlawfully taken by the City Auto Stamping Company should now be returned and thus the depositors put in the same position in which they would have been had the illegal withdrawals not been made. The court sustained him on this point also.

PROTESTING CHECKS

Since it is unnecessary to protest checks which are drawn and payable within the state, the maker of the check cannot be made liable for the cost of protest in case the check is dishonored, Attorney General Bettman has held in an opinion to Joseph J. Labadie, Ottawa, Pa., President of Putnam-co.

DELINQUENT TAXES

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices that taxes and assessments on real property which became delinquent prior to 1930, and which are now delinquent may not be paid in installments; but the right to make installment payments of delinquent taxes and assessments is limited to those which became delinquent at the August 1930 settlement and thereafter.

PREFERRING DEPOSITORS

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has been notified that the common pleas court of Cuyahoga-co, sitting at Cleveland, has given judgment in favor of the state superintendent of banks in a suit against the Republic Steel Corporation of Youngstown, to recover $351,000.00 worth of assets of that corporation which had been deposited in the Union Savings and Trust Company of Warren and later deposited by that bank with the City Trust and Savings Bank at Youngstown. The question in the case was whether a bank may prefer one general depositor over another by giving him a portion of its assets to secure repayment of that general deposit.

NO AUTHORITY

Ohio has no law which accords to the U. S. Commissioner of fisheries the right to establish and maintain fish hatcheries in this state as is required by an act of Congress appropriating money for such purposes, Attorney Gilbert

Bettman has ruled in an opinion to

I. S. Guthery, director of agriculture. General Bettman's opinion also holds that the conservation council cannot promulgate a rule and regulation which will accord to the U. S. Commissioner of fisheries the right to establish fisheries in this state.

PUBLIC INSTITUTION

While Miami University, Oxford, may not be, for all purposes, a public institution, it is a public institution for the purposes of entering into contracts for a sewer system, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

SCHOOL FUNDS

The amount of school funds that may be deposited in a bank by a board of education may not exceed the amount of the bank's paid in capital stock and surplus, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to Paul A. Flynn, Tiffin, prosecutor of Seneca-co.

DENTAL HYGIENISTS

A dental hygienist (one who cleans teeth) may practice only under the supervision of a licensed dentist, and he may work only in a dental office, public or private school, hospital, dispensary, or public institution, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to the Ohio State Dental Board. General Bettman's opinion also holds that a dental hygienist may not legally practice in his or her office several blocks distant from a dental office and not a part thereof.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

A high school teacher who offers a laboratory course in printing using a printing press which he himself owns may not be compensated by the county board of education for the publication of a directory of teachers in the school district, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to John W. Bolin, Athens, prosecutor of Athens-co.

PROBATION OFFICER

If no funds are available to pay a probation officer, the county commissioners may not be compelled to appropriate money for that purpose, although an appointment to the position has been made, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held in an opinion to Cedric W. Clark, Pomeroy, prosecutor of Meigs-co.

TRANSPORTING PRISONER

In an opinion to Norman L. McLean, Washington C. H., prosecutor of Fayette-co, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has held that fees of a constable in connection with the transportation of an insolvent person convicted of a misdemeanor to a workhouse, cannot be paid by the county commissioners but can only be paid out of the treasury of the township where the sentence was imposed. General Bettman also holds that where an insolvent defendant has served his costs in jail, an allowance to

Ohio—A Taxless State

The unique position of the State of Ohio in that its budget for carrying on its many activities and institutional work is raised without one cent of taxes being levied directly on the taxpayer is set forth in a series of four articles of which this is the first.

Every now and then some one comes along with a scheme for a taxless commonwealth. Out in the far west this usually takes the form of a proposal that the state realize directly on its vast unappropriated and undeveloped natural resources of timber, or minerals, or land. The alternative in our section is to propose the creation of some kind of state monopoly, the profits of which will be sufficient to pay the public bills. By a "taxless state" is not meant one where government activities cost nothing but on which direct taxation of the people is eliminated. Without going out to the frontier or without creating any socialistic government monopoly, we would merely remind the "taxless state" advocates that they can find their ideal realized in the conservative old state of Ohio.

In 1929 it took 32 million dollars to run the state government of Ohio in all its branches and divisions (except the Highway department), yet the state had nearly the lowest per capita general tax in the Union. As a matter of fact, apart from the one-fifth mill office building levy and the quarter mill soldiers' bonus bond levy, not a penny was raised by taxation in the sense of that term employed by the advocates of the "taxless state." No general taxes whatever were levied for ordinary expenses. Nor does Ohio operate any monopoly or enjoy a vast income from the exploitation of any of its natural resources. A part of the state revenue is derived from such minor items as fines, fees, interest, and the like, but a very considerable portion, nearly seventy-five per cent, in fact, comes from special exactions on pipe lines, light and power companies, steam and electric railroads, communication companies, insurance companies and other corporations. But are these not taxes? Certainly they are not from the standpoint of the ordinary man-in-the-street taxpayer. When Mr. Taxpayer draws a check to the county treasurer, he knows he is paying money that he cannot spend for anything else. He has no choice in the matter. When he stops to remember that an excise of one and thirty-five one-hundredths per cent on the gross earnings of certain business enterprises netted the state over three million dollars, he suspects, rightly enough, that even had no such excise been laid, the amount he paid for Pullman berths, for railroad tickets bought at union depots, for water and electric lights and so on would not have been appreciably less. So far as Mr. Taxpayer's goods and his property are concerned, so far as his own tax burden goes, he lives in a taxless state.

The second article of this series will continue the story of Ohio, a taxless state, and will treat of the services rendered by the state without cost to the taxpayer.

UROGLENA IN THE WATER

Boston — Residents of several cities surrounding Boston have found out what makes their drinking water taste so "fishy." William E. Foss, chief engineer of the metropolitan district commission water division, announced the taste was due to Spot Pond water reservoir. He said it would do the drinkers no harm.

Barney Barnes Can Now Eat Anything He Chooses

"I got so I couldn't eat anything without having trouble afterwards," says Mr. Barney Barnes, popular oil rig builder, of 22 1/2 West Grand Avenue, Oklahoma City, Okla. "I would have heartburn, and indigestion pains after meals."

"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on four years."

"Then a friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat meals or most anything and have no trouble. I want to tell others about Diapepsin because it sure helped me."

Thousands like Mr. Barnes are finding quick, certain relief for sour stomach, or acidity, by using Pape's Diapepsin. Chew a tablet, and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman is in receipt of a letter from F. H. Payne, Assistant Secretary of War, that the war department has before it no proposal looking to a modification of the Supreme Court decree in the Chicago Water Seal case. "The assurance is repeated that the State which you represent will be afforded full opportunity to be heard if and when any steps are taken by the Department in that direction," Payne's letter said.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral waters, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Also often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to set the two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Sweetest substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Censorship In the Orient

WAR means censorship and censorship means that the world behind the lines is likely to know something less than half of the truth and to read much that is untrue. The conflict in China is no exception.

Japan enforces a strict censorship over all news dispatches sent out from the country and published there, and while the Chinese censorship is less effective it exists none the less.

The noncombatants in Japan are given nothing but victory news in which the cost in lives and munitions is greatly understated. The Japanese command and government have taken pains to keep the people back home in blissful ignorance of the failure of the Japanese offensive in the Shanghai sector. The invaders had not counted upon the dogged sublimities of Chinese courage displayed there.

Censorship has not been as effective against foreign war correspondents in this private war in the Far East, as it was during the World war, and in other recent wars, for the reason that from the International Settlement correspondents have access to uncensored cables and in a day's time go behind both the Japanese and Chinese lines for eye-witness material.

Every American knows the evils of war censorship and propaganda. Both contribute to prolonging hostilities and, often, as a result of false atrocity tales, heighten the savagery at the front. It is not unlikely that if the Japanese people knew the truth about Shanghai they would refuse to longer support the imperialistic schemes of their militarists.

Underpaid

THE "typical" woman teacher is the subject of a study by Teachers College of Columbia University and the verdict rendered therefrom is not especially reassuring from either the academic or the public's point of view.

This survey, said to be the most comprehensive ever made, found among other things that the average woman teacher is thoroughly provincial, uniform and comparatively uninterested in the recognized arts; casual in her reading habits and more likely to have access to a family automobile than a decent private library; having only a second-hand acquaintance with the achievements of genius, derived from the motion pictures and the local literary society; and having a family which enjoys an average income of $1331 a year, which is, perhaps, enough to account for much of the other conditions in the case.

If these things are true, why? Much has been said of the importance of the woman teacher, whose share in the educational processes is focused on the formative, and consequently critical, years of childhood. Too little attention has been paid to her competence and training and to making it possible for her to measure up to the full magnitude of her job.

Can the public expect teachers to travel extensively, study intensively, gather adequate libraries, acquaint themselves with the arts and worship at the shrines of genius on the salaries paid them.

Need any more be said than that every increase in teaching salaries has been accompanied by an appreciable raise in teaching standards?

Growth of Canada

DURING the last 10 years Canada jumped her population from 8,789,000 to 10,374,000, an increase of 18.04 per cent. For purpose of comparison it is interesting to note that the growth of the United States from 1820 to 1930 was 161 per cent.

In spite of its rapid growth in recent years the dominion now has a population smaller than that of New York state and only 743,000 more than Pennsylvania. With a land area larger than that of the United States it has not begun to worry about the bugaboo of over-population.

Canada realizes that her future prosperity depends upon rapid growth in population, but she is determined not to duplicate the mistake of those countries which in their impatience to be admitted everywhere have welcomed her immigrants. Her immigration restrictions are not the undesirable rather than a desirable factor.

Only 88,000 immigrants entered Canada last year. Immigration reached its peak 402,000 just before the World war.

It is inconceivable at this time that Canada will ever duplicate the phenomenal growth and development of the United States, which enjoys a warmer climate, but the time is near at hand when she will capitalize more upon her vast store of natural resources.

"The GAY BANDIT of the BORDER"

by TOM GILL

SYNOPSIS

Ted Radcliffe is called to Verdi, a small village on the Mexican border by Bob Harkness, his late father's friend. Radcliffe Senior had lost a fortune in Mexico years before. At a party given by Major Blount of the U. S. Army, Ted meets Paco Morales, ruling power of Mexico, and his beautiful niece, Adela. Morales tells how El Coyote, the mysterious bandit, killed a man about to reveal his hideaway. El Coyote steals from the rich, particularly Morales, and gives to the poor. Major Blount announces that the U. S. cavalry will join in the search for the bandit. A wounded Mexican, believed to be one of El Coyote's band, is captured. Ted is stunned to learn his father died penniless. Bob attributes the failure of Ted's father's Mexican irrigation project to Morales, whose reign would have ended with its success. Late that night Bob goes out. Next morning Major Blount reports that the wounded Mexican has escaped. Bob asks Ted to become his foreman.

CHAPTER XI

Ted nodded. "There's one thing I want to learn. I remember dad talked once of a piece of land over in Mexico that he either owned or controlled. It had a name, that land. Last night I tried to remember it and all this morning, but I can't. Do you know about it?"

Bob shook his head. "I don't believe your father owned a foot of land in Mexico. Once he held thousands of acres in the form of governmental concessions, but these were later taken from him. If he owned any—which I doubt—it would be hard to find. There's no complete record kept of land ownership across the border, and it won't do to ask too many questions. Still, isn't that another reason why it'll be better for you to take the job of head rider for Don Bob? Now for the sordid details: I'll start you with the magnificent salary of one hundred a month and keep. You can handle a horse and a gun. I'll teach you to handle men. In six months, if Jito and Morales spare you, I'll have the best foreman on the border."

As he spoke, Don Bob buckled on his spurs. "I'm off to the upper ranch. And remember, at noon tomorrow we drive over to Morales's for the big fiesta." He turned down the steps. "One thing more, Bob's eyes again had grown earnest. "Do nothing that will make an enemy of Morales yet. I have certain plans of my own. And in the meantime, remember the wise old Mexican proverb, 'Smiles make even the cactus bloom.' Adios."

It must have been late that night when Bob returned, for Radcliffe saw no more of him until the following morning when, as they sat over a late breakfast, Dr. Price joined them for coffee and a smoke. "No gossip or scandals," the doctor laughed and threw himself into a chair—"except that the major still believes I had something to do with the escape of that Mexican. Just now he's all overheated about catching El Coyote."

Ted looked up. "No one seems to agree about this bandit. Is he really a killer?"

The doctor nodded over his coffee. "Sure. He has to be. You've got to remember El Coyote is an absolutely logical individual. It is a deadly kind of logic. Whoever endangers his fight against the system dies."

"But just what is the system that El Coyote hates?"

"Over across the line," Price answered slowly, "the man who owns an acre or twenty acres is little better than a vassal of the big fellow. Your big fellow dictates. Your little man wants to run a few head of cattle; wants to raise a handful of food about his ranch; wants to have a home. The big man, with his cowboys, forces the little fellow away from the waterholes, overrides the best of his range, tramples his fields. What can the little fellow do? The law—there's no law down here that can take care of a poor man against one of the well-trenched lords of the land. Look what happened night before last. Morales has finally succeeded in getting the United States government to declare El Coyote an outlaw. It makes me damned tired. What we are really doing is helping Morales keep this land enslaved until he owns every peon, body and soul."

"Do nothing that will make an enemy of Morales yet," said Bob.

"How does Morales go about it?"

"In a thousand ways. There are plenty of ways of bullying a lone man and his family when you have a hundred cowboys at your back. Ways of making his waterholes dry to drink, and ways of stampeding his steers or driving them across his farm crops. They've all been tried. There have been clashes and some shooting. And the little fellow always got the worst of it until El Coyote came. Then one fine day he appeared from somewhere—no one knows where—gathered a band of followers, and served notice that the border country was meant for men, not cattle."

"But can he carry it through?"

"No one knows. But listen: not long ago some of Morales's outfit set fire to the haystack of a farmer down in the valley. They figured if they destroyed his cattle feed, the farmer would have to move out."

"That would mean more ranges for Morales. El Coyote promptly sent word that unless Morales paid the man five hundred pesos he would regret it. Morales sat tight and swore by all his saints he would see the Coyote in hell. Well, we all waited, pretty sure something would blow up. The following week two of Morales's barns were burned, and a day or two later one of Morales's paymasters was haled and exactly five hundred pesos taken. No more, no less, just five hundred pesos."

Price smiled. "That's the kind of thing that keeps the heart beating in the little rancher."

"How much of this does Adela know?" Radcliffe asked after a little pause.

Price shrugged his heavy shoulders. "Well, after all, one doesn't tell a girl that her uncle is a damned scoundrel. Adela herself has done much to help the people, and they adore her. Half the girl babies around the hacienda are named after her. Still, it can't be a gay life for her. That may be why she is different from any girl I have ever known. At times she is very Spanish, at times almost American. I've known her since she was a long-legged kid, riding the wildest of her uncle's horses and swearing like one of his vaqueros. You've only seen her on her good behavior. Watch her when someone crosses the will of that little border queen, eh, Bob?"

"Just where does this man Jito fit into the picture?"

Price smiled and looked toward Don Bob. "Border rumor has it he's a left-hand son of Morales," Bob replied. "At any rate, it's certain he's chief bully for Morales. Jito is a man of some education, and famous throughout the border for his strength. You'll see him this afternoon at the fiesta. A great bulk of a man, big as you. I should say, perhaps heavier, with a thick, bull neck and a pleasant smile and a way of making himself feared by every peon as only the Devil is feared."

"He lives at Morales's hacienda?"

Ted asked.

Don Bob nodded. "Surely. Morales entrusts all his affairs to him. He's a kind of general manager over there. It's a perfect combination in a way—Morales the brains and Jito the courage and brawn."

Ted thought for a while. "It was about this Jito I heard Aunt Clara joking Adela Morales."

"Perhaps."

"Are they—"

"No," Bob interrupted the unasked question. "Jito has always been a kind of watchdog for Adela. He's absolutely devoted. I suppose he loves her. In the end she may marry him. Who ever knows about a woman? It may be one of Morales's wishes, and in a sense it would be the fitting thing."

"I'm damned if it would," Radcliffe burst out.

Both men looked up in mild surprise. "Why not?"

Sleeping Sickness Most Dangerous to Children

Mysterious Disease, Caused by Germ No Scientist Has Been Able to Discover. Is Marked by Strange Symptoms and Often Has After-Results That Persist.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"SLEEPING SICKNESS" is a term that has a kin of mysterious sound. As a matter of fact, the disease itself is something of a mystery. While it is undoubtedly a germ disease, no scientist has been able to discover the special organism that conveys it. It is thought that some virus migrates to the brain and sets up the changes which produce the disease.

Dr. Copeland

Although a person of any age may be attacked by sleeping sickness, the evil results in affected children are especially severe. In many cases unhappy changes in disposition, unruly conduct, as well as hysterical symptoms, have been traced to causes unrecognized in the beginning. The early symptoms of the disease in children are indefinite. Often the patient makes no complaint, but seems dull and listless. He is inclined to sleep, and when aroused takes no interest in his surroundings, quickly relapsing into sleep. In some cases of case is ushered in by convulsions, nausea and delirium, with inability to sleep. Some children attacked by this type of the disease are unable to sleep during the early part of the night, but at

Problem Children

Some children as I have suggested, show a change in disposition becoming cruel or developing the habit of lying, though the child is mentally sound, but little affected, in some cases hysteria, emotional instability and lack of self-control make the child a problem case. The symptoms of this disorder in other cases take the form of nervous disturbances, such as paralysis of the eyelids or the facial muscles, or there may be various movements like the St. Vitus dance which torment the unfortunate child. Difficulty in walking may partially incapacitate him. Certain institutions for nervous cases have undertaken, with considerable success, the care and education of children suffering from the after effects of sleeping sickness. It is certain that in view of their unbalanced nervous systems and poor adjustment to their surroundings, a special type of training is necessary to assist them to become useful members of society.

Answers to Health Queries

H. E. Q.—Would it be dangerous to undergo an operation for gall stones while having yellow jaundice? Would such an operation be apt to cause a kidney infection?

A.—Your doctor should be the one to decide this question since he is familiar with all the underlying facts and circumstances in the case. Follow his advice.

M. J. M. Q.—What would account for a dry, choking feeling in the throat accompanied by dizzy spells? My doctor does not seem to enlighten me along these lines.

A.—This condition might be due to a circulatory disturbance, to nervousness. A thorough examination should not only fix the cause but should also be helpful in determining the necessary treatment. Try to improve your general condition and health. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

At the Circleville Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA
"This Reckless Age," the feature picture at the Cliftona Theatre for tomorrow, is Paramount's film-ization of Lewis Beach's stage success "The Goose Hangs High."

It is a sentimental comedy drama of parents who have dedicated their lives to supplying every want of their children, who in turn, following the "jazz" trend of the reckless age, give slight consideration to the grueling self-denial of their parents.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Peggy Shannon, Richard Bennett, Charlie Ruggles, Frances Dee and Frances Starr play the featured roles, supported by a cast of exceptional talent.

The screen play of "This Reckless Age" was prepared by Henry Myers. Frank Tuttle, director of "Dude Ranch," "It Pays to Advertise," "Sweetie" and others, directed production.

"This Reckless Age," under its stage title, was one of the most successful of the heart-throb comedy-dramas.

Rogers also played in "Working Girls," a recent release, while Miss Shannon completed four leading film roles in the past five months.

"The Secret Call," "Silence," "The Road to Reno" and "Touchdown."

'Money At Cost' Is Plea Of Coxe

MASSILLON, O., March 1.—

"Money at cost"—that 38-year-old dream of General Jacob S. Coxe, mayor of Massillon, has been injected into the 1932 presidential race as a campaign issue.

Using as his major plank the scheme for financial relief for which he has fought since the nineties, Mayor Coxe has announced himself a candidate for president on the Republican ticket. His candidacy has been entered in the South Dakota preferential primaries and will be entered in others.

He is the second Ohioan mentioned for the presidency who has definitely tossed his hat into the ring. Also, he is the state's only Republican hope.

Primarily, he is making the seemingly "foredoomed to failure" campaign for the publicity it will bring his plan of legalizing the issuance of non-interest bearing bonds in small denominations to be used as legal tender.

TENACIOUS FIGHTER

Coxe is an idealist and a tenacious fighter. It was 38 years ago New Year's Day that he dreamed his "money at cost" plan while riding in a Pullman compartment. His sole ambition since that time has been to see his dream realized.

The "general" was 39 when he first sought recognition of his money plan by leading a ragged army of jobless to the nation's capitol. It failed when he was refused permission to speak and was jailed 20 days for trespassing on the grass at the capitol.

Doggedly, Coxe has carried on his campaign for his plan ever since. He interested financial experts but was unable to obtain recognition of his legislation in Congress. Repeatedly he ran for Congress so that he could insist that his scheme be given a hearing.

The "money at cost" plan which has become almost synonymous for Coxe himself has been embodied in House Bill No. 5857 (5887) now pending before Congress.

It provides that any state, county, township, district or municipality deeming it necessary to make public improvements, employ the unemployed, finance home-building or provide other specific financial needs, may deposit with the secretary of the United States Treasury non-interest bearing bonds up to one-half the assessed value of real estate, exclusive of improvements.

The treasury then prints treasury notes to the amount of the bonds, delivers 99 per cent of the money and retains the rest to cover the cost of printing. A tax is levied to repay 4 per cent of the amount of the bond issue annually. At the end of the 25 years, the bonds are returned and the currency destroyed.

That advertising through the printed pages gets results. It quickly catches the eye, making an instantaneous appeal.

Manufacturers who link their efforts with advertising produce greater business.

Advertising and quality are interdependent. Profits will not come without the aid of both.

Quick turnover is possible only for those products that have been tested. It is a well known fact that well advertised products have met the most severe tests.

People want the best. They know they are getting the best when they buy well advertised products. Non-advertised goods are as variable as the winds.

Successful manufacturers make quality products with a view to the future. That is why they are successful. They tell the facts about their products in a comprehensible way through the printed page.

In these modern days the jobber, manufacturer and retailer are in the public service. Only who serve the best survive.

One of the first principles of a successful business is a sincere desire to be of service to the public whose trade they seek.

Advertising is a service that really serves.

OBITUARY

George W. Vawters, son of Andrew and Sarah Black Vawters, was born near Elmwood, Ohio, July 11th, 1878 and departed this life at Redwing, Minnesota, February 22nd, 1932. He was superintendent of the Mechanical Department of the Boys Training School at Red Wing, Minnesota, for the last fourteen years. His sympathies and interest in knowledge of boys' temperamental lives gave him more than a parental authority in directing their lives; he seemed to walk and think in their experiences as a familiar path that he could anticipate for them; it was not simple, the authority of technical knowledge, which indeed he was master in; it was the authority of sympathetic experience. He had been for several years assistant superintendent of the Boys Training School at Dobbs Ferry, New York, and it was during his superintendency at that place the former superintendent of the Red Wing Boys Training school visited the Dobbs Ferry school and the deceased showed him through the school and displayed such original and unique knowledge and gentle executive ability that he was invited to accept the superintendency at Red Wing. He was married to Jessie Wolfe, January 1st, 1903 who preceded him in death five years. He leaves to mourn his departure three sisters, Minnie and Jennie, who live at home near Kingston, Ohio, and Mrs. Lucy Cressinger of Columbus, O., and four brothers, Albert, of Columbus, O.; Sherman, of Toledo, Ohio; Thomas, of Lima, O. and Charles of Akron, Ohio, besides other relatives and warm personal friends. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 23rd. He was a lover of children and won the hearts of all whom he touched with his tender but masculine personality.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Red Wing and added to his rare judgment and decisive will was the light of his faith in Jesus Christ.

LINDBERGH

proved of no value. The only clues for the state troopers to work on were provided by the ladder used by the kidnapers in climbing to the upper-story nursery in the Lindbergh house. Footprints of a man, joined later with those of a woman; a blue and white blanket found sixty feet along the single road leading from the house to the main road; and an abandoned stolen blue sedan automobile found in Hillsdale, N. J.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2.—Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., 20-months-old son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, American's greatest flying team, was in the hands of kidnapers today.

The most famous baby in the world was stolen from his nursery crib in the home of his parents here some time between 7:30 p. m. and 10 p. m. Tuesday. Early today an intense hunt had disclosed no trace of the abductors.

CRIB FOUND EMPTY

Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow, ran to the nursery at 10 o'clock when the nurserymaid screamed at finding the crib empty. At first it was thought the baby had rolled out or crawled under the furniture.

A search of the room revealed no trace of the child. Then a window was found open and a ladder was nearby. The kidnapers were reported to have left a note but police would not divulge the contents.

Colonel Lindbergh telephoned state police headquarters at Trenton and news of the kidnapping was flashed throughout New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware.

All suspicious automobiles were ordered searched.

Footprints discovered leading to a main road from the isolated Lindbergh home indicated that a man and a woman took part in the kidnaping. This clue was uncovered by Colonel Lindbergh and state troopers working together through the night.

The footprints of the man led from the base of the ladder which was found leaning against a window of the second floor nursery. The footprints of the woman joined those of the man about half-way down the two and a half-mile stretch of narrow road running from the house.

TRACED TO ROAD
The two sets of footprints were traced from that point to the main road, where the kidnapers were believed to have parked their car.

Police believed that after the car had been parked at the side of the main road, the woman accompanied the man half way up the road toward the Lindbergh home. She waited for him while he stole up to the house, mounted the ladder to the nursery and brought the baby down.

The ladder did not belong on the Lindbergh estate or in the vicinity. It was described as "makeshift" and was believed to have been carried as part of the equipment of the kidnapers.

The footprints indicated that the man and woman had either taken off their shoes or wrapped them in some sort of material.

Everything pointed toward the kidnapers having carefully prepared in advance for the baby stealing. The isolated nature of the Lindbergh estate contributed to the success of their plans.

The Lindbergh home was built for the famous flying couple while they were on their flight to the Orient last summer. It is a two and one-half story structure standing about half a mile back from the Stoutsburg-Wertsville highway. It is surrounded by dense woodland and there are no other houses near it.

TO BED AT 7 P. M.

The baby had been put to bed by Betty Dow, his nurse, and Mrs. Lindbergh who had given him a goodnight kiss at 7 p. m. The Colonel, the butler and his wife, were the only other occupants of the house.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were eating a late "snack" at 10 p. m. when the disappearance of the baby was discovered.

Mrs. Lindbergh became hysterical but the Colonel retained a grip on his emotions and immediately telephoned state police.

The Colonel aided in the search of the grounds dressed in his aviator's leather jacket and without a hat. He would not discuss the kidnaping to newspapermen.

"I'm sure you'll understand how I feel," he said. "You will have to excuse me."

Asked concerning the condition of Mrs. Lindbergh, he added: "She is bearing up as well as could be expected."

Mrs. Lindbergh has been reported as expecting another child within the next few months.

ALARM BROADCAST

Immediately after the kidnaping alarm was broadcast by state police, guards were posted along all main roads leading from New Jersey into New York and Pennsylvania.

Police at Princeton, N. J., were told that men on a black or dark blue sedan, bearing New York license plates, had inquired along a nearby road their way to the Lindbergh home just before the kidnaping. A description of the men and the machine were broadcast throughout New Jersey and adjacent states.

An automobile which was similar to the description of the wanted machine was later found abandoned in Hillsdale, N. J.

The abandoned car was a blue Nash sedan with black trimmings.

It was found parked without lights near the Newark city line and gave forth an aroma of perfume. It bore New York license plates.

This car later was identified by a resident of Brooklyn who said it had been stolen from earlier in the day.

Meanwhile, the Lindberghs had notified Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, mother of the Colonel, and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, of the kidnaping.

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh was reported en route here from Grosse Pointe, a suburb of Detroit. Mrs. Morrow, widow of Senator Dwight W. Morrow, resides in Englewood, N. J., where the colonel and his bride formerly lived.

State police began an intensive check-up on men who have been engaged in construction and renovation work on the Lindbergh home.

A complete list of all persons who have been employed on the estate was obtained from George Hullfish, Lawrenceville, N. J., foreman of the Lindbergh home construction job.

The home is of colonial design, built of native stone. It sits on a hillside in the center of an estate comprising about fifteen acres. There are wings on both ends of the house.

The nursery is in the northeast corner of the house which was completed last October.

The official alarm which was flashed over the police teletype network was as follows:

"Colonel Lindbergh's baby kidnaped from Lindbergh home at Hopewell between 7:30 and 10 p. m. Boy, 20 months, dressed in sleeping suit. Search all cars."

George Jennings, who lives along the road between here and the Lindbergh estate, said that he had been approached early in the night by a man and woman in a dark sedan who asked to be directed to the Lindbergh home.

State police checked up on the man, N. J., about four miles from the Lindbergh home to learn whether any inmates had escaped from the institution. An examination of the ladder used by the kidnapers in reaching the window of the nursery showed that it was of the type used by house painters. It was in three sections, which could be telescoped so that it might be easily carried on an automobile.

FIND FINGERPRINTS

Fingerprints were found on the ladder and experts took photographs of them.

The Lindbergh home was brilliantly lighted throughout the night.

While "official" information from the household was scant, the Lindbergh butler, Ollie Whately, served coffee to the group of several hundred newspaper reporters and photographers who converged on the estate from many cities.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Creation of a national private secret organization to stamp out kidnaping will be the outgrowth of the seizure of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's baby, Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission predicted today following a courtesy call on President Hoover.

Loesch was a member of the now defunct Wickersham law observance and an enforcement commission and for years has been a student of crime in the middle west.

BOY'S LIFE SAVED

ZANESVILLE, O., March 2.—Seven-year-old Edward Norstrand, found floating in the Muskingum river yesterday, told his chums today how it feels to be near death.

Shirley Callahan, barge dock hand, found the boy floating in the river. He was revived and rushed to his home. Except that he suffered from exposure, he appeared to have sustained no ill results.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

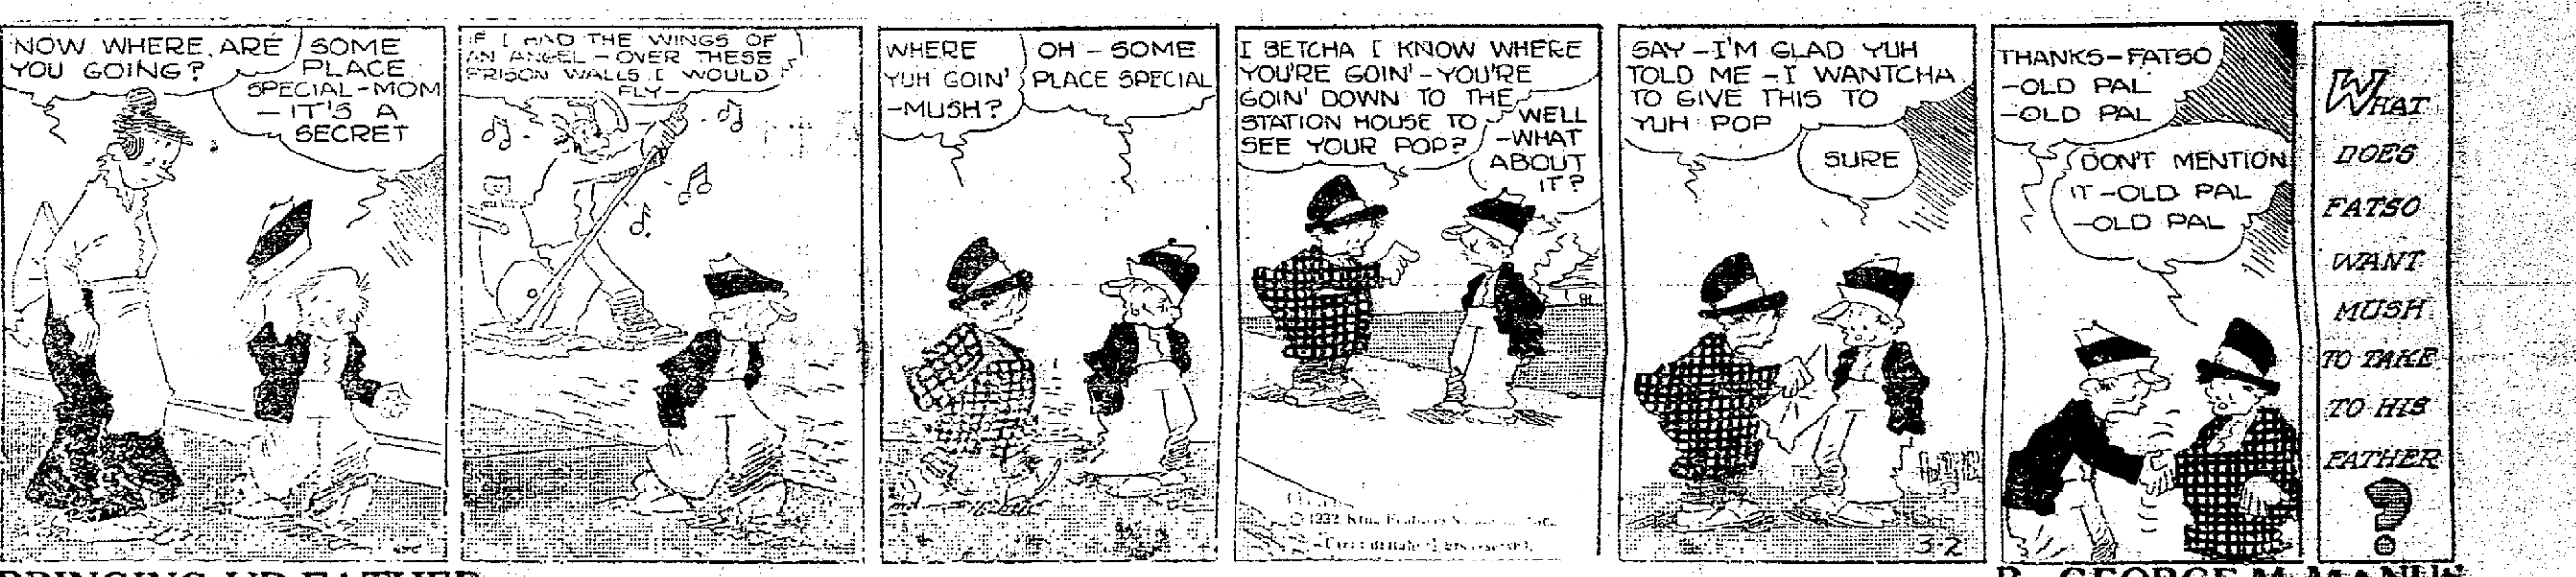

Mrs. Betty Luedke of Dayton writes: "I am giving Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

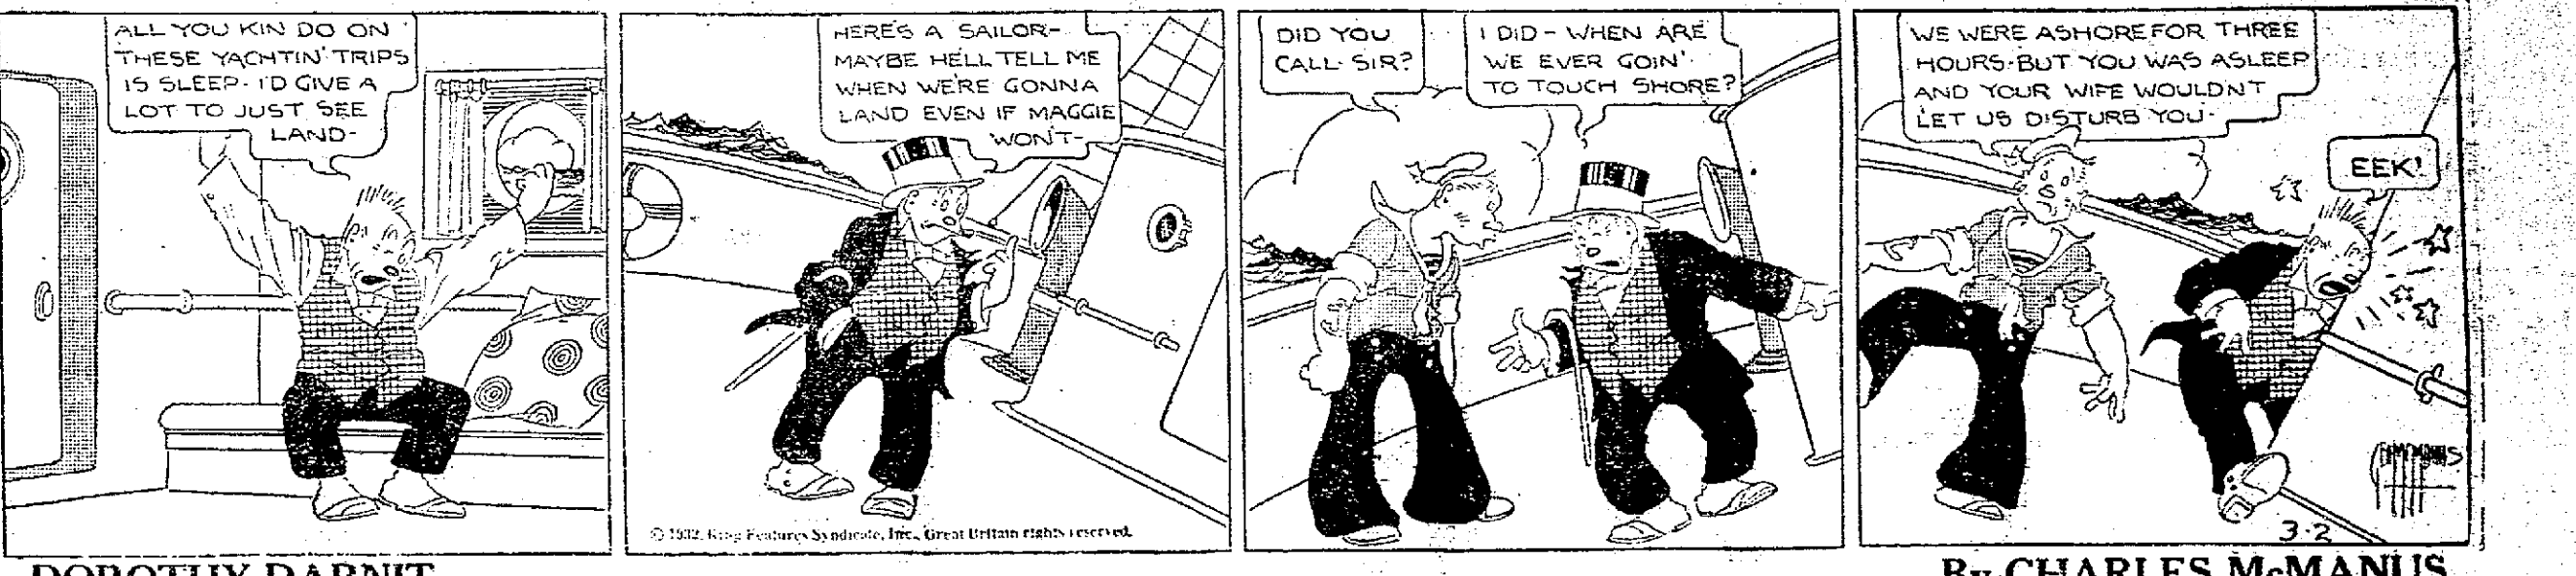

But be sure and get Kruschen salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

By James W. Brooks

Further along the road are incidents of great moment when read in relation to Washington's after life. At a place called Oak Grove, near Wakefield, he was advised by a Mr. Williams to take up the study of surveying. Next, in Marye School which stood on the site now occupied by the First Baptist Church in Wakefield, he began the reading and practice of "Rules of Civility"—minor maxims, perhaps, but watch for their use later in the Washington mind.

And by the crumbling homes of Yesterday still runs the old "King's Highway"—the road of Washington's early youth. Today it is Virginia State Route 37. As this scene was sketched on a gray November day, the tinkle of cowbells could be heard from back in the woods—a peaceful prelude to the stirring scenes that lie ahead.

ransom to an old woman he met by appointment in a store, he was told to meet his boy in Cleveland the next day. Willie, disguised by dark glasses, stepped off a street car at the designated place there.

No trace of the perpetrators of the kidnapping were found. Many abductions of children in recent years were never solved. Blankley Coughlin, 4, Morristown, Pa., has been missing since 1920.

Nur were traces found of Raimondo Von Maluski, 3, stolen from his New York home in 1925, or of Billy Gaffney, 4, Brooklyn, who disappeared in 1927.

At least ten abductions of children in the last ten years attracted national attention. In a few instances, the victims were found murdered long after their disappearance. Most of the cases were never unraveled.

served bursting in the Japanese ranks though the Japanese guns kept up a steady bombardment. Thousands of newly arrived infantry from Japan were thrown into line on the northern end of the fighting front. They broke through Chinese resistance west of Kiangwan and entered Tachang without serious fighting.

At this hour (7 p. m., 6 a. m., Eastern Standard Time) the Japanese were swinging south from Tachang and it appeared certain that any Chinese units remaining in the northern district of Chapei would be trapped unless they escaped under cover of darkness.

The Japanese are advancing on Woosung village and Woosung fort from the vicinity of Liuh where they disembarked about 10,000 men. The defenders of Woosung appear to be cut off.

The entire operation is under the direction of Gen. Shirakawa, who arrived yesterday from Japan to assume command.

'LOVE AFFAIR' AT PEN TOLD

Assistant Matron at Marysville Says Husband Infatuated With Convict.

MARYSVILLE, O., Mar. 2.—Sensational charges about a love affair at the Ohio Reformatory for women between a convicted murderer, attractive and 24, and an electrician at the institution, today held this section enthralled.

Mrs. Myrtle Morris, assistant matron at the reformatory, made charges to the state senate welfare investigating committee yesterday. She declared the romance had the approval of Superintendent Louise Mittendorf.

Miss Inez Palmer of Bellaire, a life former who was convicted of murdering a Vinton-co man when she was 19, was named as the woman in the alleged affair.

Members of the committee, following receipt of the charges returned to Columbus where they were to hold a meeting today to decide upon the next step in the inquiry.

Her husband, Redman Morris, and the Palmer girl often went for automobile rides together, Norris declaring he was teaching the pretty young prisoner to drive, the woman said.

The Palmer girl was a maid in the Mittendorf home and Norris said she first learned about her husband and Miss Palmer from inmates' gossip, she testified.

"Mrs. Mittendorf was always too busy to see me when I wanted to talk to her about it," she complained to the committee.

Recipes

PUTTING RICE TO WORK

Rice which is more commonly used in the Oriental Countries than in the United States, is a food for all the family. Being nourishing and easy to digest, it may be served to children at an early age, while its texture and mild flavor adapt it to pleasing combinations with the stronger flavors of meat, fish and fruit for adult consumption.

When buying rice you will find four different grades, which are based on the number of broken kernels to the pound. The better grades require more time for cooking and will swell to four or five times their original size. The cheaper grades cook quickly and will swell only about half as much as the full head. A creamy color in cooked rice is caused by certain minerals in drinking water of some localities. For perfect results follow the master recipe from the South and recommended by the National Rice Association of America.

SOUTHERN RICE

Wash rice thoroughly. Use a deep vessel for cooking. To 4 cups of boiling water add 1 level teaspoon of salt. Then add 1 cup of washed rice so slowly that water continues to boil. Put lid on, leaving just a small opening. Occasionally shake vessel so no kernels stick to the bottom, but—this is important—NEVER STIR THE RICE. Boil until all water has evaporated. From 17 to 20 minutes is usually sufficient. Poorer grades of rice cook in less time. To test: Mash grain between the fingers. If no hard kernels remain rice is done. Place on simer or in open oven where it will finish swelling without burning. Each snow-white grain will stand alone, plump, tender and delicious.

Rice may be served with cream and sugar for the morning cereal or it may appear at breakfast as toothsome tender griddle pancakes.
